Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth Enjoy Third Annual Banquet.

The Association of the Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth, N. H., held the third annual reception and banquet at the Hotel Bellevue last evening, about 60 members attending. President Ira F. Burnham of Stoughton presided. The exercises consisted of songs by Miss Helen Scott Green of Worcester, readings by Miss Lucy C. Burnham of Stoughton and violin solos by Alexander Karsteh, and Miss Hazel M. Field and Mrs. Charles S. Upham played the accompaniments.

The following officers were elected: Ira F. Burnham of Stoughton, president; A. J. Rowe of Boston, Edward P. Sheehan of Rochester, Charles P. Dennett and Mrs. J. T. Brown of Malden, and Mrs. Henry L. Green of Worcester, vice presidents; Horace G. Payder of Boston secretary and treasurer; Charles H. Abbott of Allston, William A. Payson and C. Morris Treble of Malden, William H. Carty of Boston, Mrs. W. H. Haddock of Rochester, Mrs. W. H. Cote of Charlestown and Mrs. A. C. Lunt of Beverly, directors.

BATTLESHIP BILL REPORTED

Naval Measure Includes Two Battleships, One Transport, Supply Ship and Six Destroyers

Washington, Feb. 20.—The naval appropriation bill, carrying $146,000,000 and authorizing two battleships, one transport, one supply ship, six torpedo boat destroyers and four submarines, was reported late today to the House. It will probably be taken up tomorrow. Secretary Meyer was on the floor of the House when the measure was brought in.

A final vote on the battleship construction question, over which there had been a contest for weeks, was taken at the last moment. An amendment to provide for one battleship instead of two was lost, 9 to 12, the economy advocates gaining two votes. Representatives Gregg of Texas and Hendley of Missouri, Buchanan of Illinois and Witherspoon of Mississippi gave notice that they would file a minority report. Representative Trible of Georgia, one of the leading "no-battleship men," said he did not intend to filibuster against the measure, but would oppose it on the floor of the House and insist upon a recorded vote. The "big navy" men of the House were confident tonight of putting the bill through as reported. Sentiment on the battleship question among the democrats is said to be almost equally divided, while a majority of the republicans favor building at least two this year.

Last year, when only one battleship was authorized, the naval bill appropriated $123,161,538. This year, besides providing for two dreadnoughts, the committee increased the amount for pay of the navy by about $2,000,000, and made substantial increases in the allowances for armor, armament, ammunition, fuel and supplies.

Government Wants Extradition Papers for Marines Held at Yard.

Corporal E. R. Guenther and Private Stephen Porgan of the marine corps, who are wanted by the local police on a charge of larceny of watches from the store of Blankenburg on Penikese street are still held at the navy yard. The police were notified today that the government will not turn the prisoners over to the civil authorities without the necessary extradition papers from the Governor of Maine and New Hampshire. The government requires the safe return of the men if tried and acquitted in the civil courts without expense to the department. Chief Hurley had a conference with County Solicitor Duffell and he immediately took the necessary measures to have the marines put into the hands of the local police.

MEXICAN WAR STOPS MARRIAGE

Private Potter Obligated to Leave Rochester Girl He Was About to Marry.

The rigors of war have imposed at least a temporary hardship upon Private Justin A. Potter, U. S. M. C., and Ada Gilbert of Rochester. Two days before the time scheduled for their marriage in this city, Potters received orders detaching him from this station and directing him to proceed with other marines to the scene of internal war in Mexico. Potter and Miss Gilbert sought to be married before his departure from this city, but he found the marriage laws inflexible and unyielding and he was compelled to leave his prospective bride to await his possible return.

Potter is 28 years old and has served four years in the marine corps as a private. He was stationed at the naval prison at the Portsmouth navy yard. Tall, erect, well proportioned, and possessing well lined features, Potter is a splendid specimen of manhood. He enlisted from an Indiana town. He was a mechanical engineer practicing at his profession, but a difficulty arose with his father who is secretary of a big corporation, and Potter enlisted in the Marine corps in order to separate himself from congenial surroundings. His enlistment will expire this summer and he intends to return to Indiana and re-engage in the engineering business.

Miss Gilbert is 20 years old, and the daughter of Daniel Gilbert of Rochester. She and Potter became acquainted in Dover. They agreed to marry and Potter went to City Clerk Frederick R. Drew and obtained a marriage license Saturday. The new marriage laws of New Hampshire, which require the declaration of intention shall be made at least five days prior to the ceremony, delayed an immediate marriage. Potter and his prospective bride were in this city, the girl returning to her home, with the understanding that they should return to this city and be married.

Madero, Diaz and others caused a postponement of the marriage plan. Some Americans were shot down in the capital city and there arose the danger of a Mexican invasion of the southwestern states. The marines, said to be the greatest fighting body in the world, were dispatched by Uncle Sam to the scene of the uprising along the border. Potter was ordered away with the rest.

RAILROAD NOTES

Foster's Democrat of Dover says: A gypsy moth inspector followed a B. & M. freight car here from Portsmouth and after calling the attention of Freight Agent Doe and his assistant, Clarence Lord, to the fact that there were masses of gypsy moth eggs all over the outside of the car, ordered it immediately sent back to Portsmouth, where it will be carefully treated with cresote in order to keep the eggs from hatching. The car contained coal and had been shipped in here on Tuesday and was left on the siding near the freight house. The coal was consigned to Richards & Co., and about two-thirds of the car had been unloaded before it was noticed what was on the car that made it look so spotted. The inspector allowed the balance of the coal to be unloaded, as the danger was not with the coal but the car, which if it had gone without attention would later have spread the gypsy moths to whatever place the car happened to be when the "hatching time" arrived.

It was learned at the railroad and today that the car in question arrived here from Epping and was overlooked in the loading of coal at this station.

Bulletins have been issued to freight trainmen warning against leaving open doors of hay cars and others that may contain inflammable shipments.

BILL AFFECTS THE STUDENTS

Charges Made at Railroad Hearing That Hardship Would Be Imposed on Education

Concord, Feb. 20.—At the hearing before the railroad committee on a bill relating to commuters and students' tickets it was alleged that the railroad is preparing for a change in rate which will increase the cost to every patron of the railroad using these tickets except for those using the month ticket. Another hearing is to be had on the bill next Wednesday.

During the hearing on House bill No. 300 it was charged and was admitted by the railroad men, that it was proposed in the near future to abolish the students' tickets as applied to students of the secondary schools and colleges. This will increase the cost of education to every student who is not resident at the place where these schools and colleges exist. Students attending New Hampshire colleges and who reside at home and travel will under the proposal of the railroad have to pay approaching twice what they now do. The same will apply to students in towns having no high school and who attend high school in some adjoining town.

It also means that those people who live in New Hampshire and travel daily to their place of business in some other place, either in the state or in Boston or other places will have the price for their three months' travel raised a considerable percent. This is to be done by the extension to New Hampshire of the new rates which have been put in force in Massachusetts where one educator estimates that the students of his institution are paying $275 a month more than previously because of the increase in rates.

The present commutation rates are established on a basis of three months, and for a one month's ticket the price is 40 per cent. of the three months' price, and for two months' ticket the rate has been 75 per cent. of the three months' ticket.

The new rates as established in Massachusetts and placed in force Jan. 1, and which it is said the railroad proposes to extend to New Hampshire a little later are placed at 37½ per cent. of the three months' rate. The three months' ticket will be done away with so that those who have been using three months' tickets will find the cost increased 12½ per cent. for the three months. That is supposing the old rate for a three months' ticket was $30 the new rate would be $33.50.

The bill on which the hearing was held provides for the establishment of commutation rates which shall increase according to distance and for student rates which are graduated in the same way, but are at a lower cost.

Another feature of the bill is that it provides that such tickets shall be good until used. The present tickets are not good for anything unless used in the time limit. Instances have been known where persons have been taken sick after using but a few trip tickets out of a three months' book and the remainder of the book being a complete loss.

The first section of the bill provides that the railroad shall, on April 1, 1913, "establish from each of its stations in

PERMISSION TO COMPLETE SYSTEM

Vermont Legislature Gives B. & M. the Right to Parallel Tracks.

Montpelier, Vt., Feb. 20.—Two bills which would give the Boston & Maine railroad permission to construct two connecting links to complete its system down the Connecticut river valley to Massachusetts, parallel with the tracks of the Central Vermont railway, a Grand Trunk subsidiary, were passed upon favorably in the legislature today.

Counsel for the road, said tonight however, that the connecting links would not be built so long as the present agreement between the Grand Trunk and the Boston & Maine railroad for the joint use of the existing tracks remained in effect. The agreement might be abrogated by either company, according to the counsel, when the arrangements should be found unsatisfactory.

One bill passed by the House in concurrence with the senate provides for the extension of the Sullivan county railroad from Windsor to White River Junction.

The other bill which had been acted on favorably by the House, was passed by the Senate. It provides for the extension of the Vermont Valley railroad from Brattleboro to the Massachusetts line at South Vernon.

THE CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION

J. M. Varrell to Succeed J. W. Akerman--Very Little Out of Routine--Annual Budget Not Ready.

The monthly meeting of the Mayor and Council was held on Thursday evening with Councilman Tilton who is ill, the only absentee. There was very little business to be considered other than the election of an assistant engineer of the fire department and an effort made to change the ordinance to leave the matter of who should do the clerking to the Board themselves.

There were a great many of the usual petitions which were all granted.

Mayor Badger for the finance committee reported that the committee were not ready to report and it would possibly be a month or more as they must wait until the state and county tax has been assessed.

On motion of Councilman Pinkham the resignation of Joseph W. Akerman as assistant engineer of the fire department was taken from the table and accepted and the Council then elected Joshua Morris Varrell as assistant engineer.

Mr. Varrell has been connected with the fire department for the past twenty years as a member of the number four company and in that time he has been three times captain. He is an efficient fireman and a good choice. Councilman Cox offered the following amendment to the ordinance:

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH, NEW HAMPSHIRE

In the year of Our Lord, nineteen hundred and thirteen

An ordinance amending Chapter 16 of the revised ordinances of the City of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, in relation to fire department

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth, N. H., assembled as follows:--

That the words "The first assistant engineer shall be clerk of the board" in line seven of section 1, be stricken out and in their stead be inserted the words, "The clerk shall be elected by the members of the board of engineers," so that said section as amended shall read as follows:--

Section 1. The chief engineer and the two assistant engineers (to be designated as the first and second assistant engineers) shall constitute the board of engineers. They shall perform the duties and exercise the powers of fire wards as provided in chapter 136 of the public statutes of the state of New Hampshire. The clerk shall be elected by the members of the board of engineers.

This ordinance shall take effect upon its passage.

Councilman Duncan called attention to the fact that the amendment was such that the engineers could take on an outsider for clerk, whereas at present one of the members must be clerk.

Councilman Cox did not intend that this should be the case and the bill will be fixed by the committee on second reading.

City Solicitor Peysor reported on the bill of Mrs. Mary Flynn of School street that the full amount of the bill $25 should be paid. This is a case arising out of the backing up of the sewer in School street into the cellar of Mrs. Flynn's house. The report was accepted and the recommendation adopted.

The Solicitor reported that the case of Winn vs the City of Portsmouth

UNDECIDED WHAT TO DO WITH DEPOSED PRESIDENT

Madero May Have to Stand Trial for Murder--Situation Clearing Up.

Mexico City, Feb. 20.--The Mexican capital is still in a state of expectancy respecting the fate of the heads of the old administration. The prevention of the departure of Francisco Madero by order of Gen. Huerta gave rise to many rumors and conjectures, and the attitude of Emiliano Zapata and Vasquez Gomez, the leaders of the Southern and Northern rebels, occasioned some anxiety.

The wording of the joint resignation by Francisco Madero and Jose Pino Suarez, which has just been published, was in marked contrast to the usual verbose documents written in such cases. It was in the following brief terms: "In view of the events which have occurred from first to last in the Nation, and for the greater peace of our country, we make this formal resignation of our posts of President and Vice President of the Republic respectively to which we were elected."

What was to be done with the ex-President was a delicate problem which had not been settled this morning. It was said that he was to be deported from Vera Cruz much after the manner in which Porfirio Diaz was sent away. It was suggested that this exile was to be a substitute for a trial for the murder of Col. Rivera, whom he was accused of killing at the time of his arrest in the National Palace.

The formal accusation was made against him by attorney Carlos Salinas before the attorney general of the Republic, and it was declared that the charge was to be left pending in case he should attempt to return to the Republic.

Another story was that the Government was considering the advisability of submitting Francisco Madero to a lunacy commission.

Number of Killed 3000

The closest estimates obtainable of the casualties during the fighting in the streets show that about 3000 persons, the great majority of whom were civilians, many of them women and children, were killed, while 7000 were wounded. These are not Government figures, nor has the Government made any reliable calculation, since in most cases no official records were made of the bodies gathered in the streets and in the houses shattered by shells, whence they were carried to open spaces outside the city and buried.

Numerous instances have been recorded in which whole families were wiped out by exploding shells, while the penetrating fire of the machine guns scattered death through wide and populous districts. It is still a common sight to see charred bodies lying on heaps of trash which had been set on fire.

The estimates as to the loss of property are necessarily guess work, but there is no doubt that the damage amounted to many millions of dollars. Magnificent residences were shot half to pieces and great business houses in the downtown districts suffered a similar fate.

Come in and let us show you our fine line of imported and domestic materials for spring suits. They are by far the finest ever shown in this city. Remember, too, that when we make your clothes they are made for you, and have that individuality, style, and workmanship that you get only in this place. Councilman Cronin stated that the committee on street lights had found that with the streets lights as arranged at present, the city would go over the minimum. A plan had been suggested by which the 200 candle power lights could be cut down to a lesser power and bring the expense back.

Councilman Pinkham stated that there were many bills before the legislature which effected the city and he thought that the Council should get familiar with these bills. For this reason he thought that a committee should be appointed to look after the matter. He was in favor of meeting the delegation to the legislature and talking over matters.

Cronin thought that it was a good idea and Councilman Bennett favored it although there was nothing the Council could do. After some discussion it was finally left to the Mayor to request the Portsmouth delegation to hold a meeting at which time all of the proposed bills may be discussed.

A bill from the Board of Public Works for the water used in City Hall was received and referred to the Finance committee.

The monthly light bill was held up owing to the fact that the inspector had found an 80 candle power light where there should have been a 200. This was adjusted and the bills paid. The auditor's report of bills amounting to $1,250.02 were ordered paid.

"FOR PORTSMOUTH AND PORTSMOUTH'S INTERESTS."

Portsmouth, N. H., Friday, February 21, 1913.

That One-Man Party!

For some time past certain democratic newspapers have been twitting the so-called progressives about being "a one-man party" because of their adherence to Roosevelt and all therein implied. To our way of thinking, while republicans as a whole are disinclined to follow the Roosevelt banner to any extent whatever they are far from expressing sympathy with the "unfettered democracy" in its utterly illogical and indefensible assault upon the progressives. While the latter are in no mood, apparently, for calling upon their republican friends for assistance of any sort, deep down in our hearts we must still regard them as brethren, in spite of their unwise secession last year, and still believe that before 1916 the great republican army will again march unitedly against the common enemy. To our progressive friends, and those of a pronounced Rooseveltian leaning, we would say in all candor: The next time a democrat dares deride you as belonging to a one-man party spring this conundrum and, if he be wise, he will come down like the Davy Crockett coon without firing a gun. Ask him how long since the democratic party emerged from the "one-man party" chrysalis? Ever since the "Cross of Gold" episode in the 1896 democratic convention William Jennings Bryan has represented the one-man idea in political party movements. He easily secured the presidential nomination in two successive democratic conventions and could have had a third in 1904 had he given the word. In 1908 he captured a third nomination and at one stage of the campaign was thought to have a better chance of capturing the White House than ever before, but it proved to be "three times and out" for him. While he could not get the Baltimore nomination last year he as surely dictated the nomination of Woodrow Wilson as he did his own nomination in previous years, and will have his reward, no doubt. The Tammany tiger's threat to swallow him alive had no terrors for him and this democratic Napoleon won a great victory. But, "things have changed since Hannah died" and if, in Woodrow Wilson, the democratic party has not entrenched itself once more as "a one-man party," with Bryan more or less side-tracked, we plead guilty to being no prophet. For the next four years, if his life be spared, Woodrow Wilson will be it "by a large majority," and it is to be hoped, a united republican party will overthrow Dictator No. 2 in 1916. Wilson's intentions, in general, may be commendable, but his following is of a decidedly grotesque type, with the loaves and fishes in the foreground. The democratic situation reminds the writer of a lecture on grammar he heard in his school days. The lecturer was a red-hot abolitionist of the old school, but he was a first class grammarian and a text book published by him was a standard publication. In the midst of his lecture, desiring to illustrate a point he said, "All democrats are not illiterates but all illiterates are democrats." While this may have been an unwise, perhaps improper, illustration the democratic yell that went up over it could have been heard from Lake Erie to Montauk Point.

Mylius Is Admitted.

In New York, on Wednesday last, by order of Judge Cox of the United States Court, Edward F. Mylius, the London newspaper man charged with libelling King George in the statement that he contracted a morganatic marriage at Gibraltar, was ordered discharged from custody and he gladly left Ellis Island, where he had been detained two months. In his decision Judge Cox held that if Mylius committed an offense it was of a political nature and could not justly come under the head of "moral turpitude." When informed of the court's action Secretary Nagel, who ordered the deportation of Mylius, said he would probably appeal the case. It may interest Portsmouth people to learn that the judge in this case, Alfred Conkling Cox, is a nephew of the late Roscoe Conkling, (his mother being Conkling's only sister), that he was named for his grandfather, the late Judge Alfred Conkling; that his father was the noted rector of Trinity church, Utica, and that his uncle was the late Bishop Cox, of the Western New York diocese. It may be seen, therefore, that Judge Cox, considered one of the ablest judges on the federal bench, comes of good stock.

Council Refuses to Pardon King.

By the close vote of five to four the Governor's council of Massachusetts refused, on Wednesday, to grant even a conditional pardon to the convicted promoter, Cardenio F. King, and thus the matter is likely to remain unless there should be a sudden change for the worse in the prisoner's condition. At no time in the long-drawn-out discussion of the case has there been the slightest degree of doubt felt or expressed respecting the justice of his conviction; the only ground of clemency urged has been that of King's physical condition. While it is conceded to be bad in the extreme nothing has been brought forward to show that it is worse at the present time than at the time of his conviction. His offense, that of having taken an improper advantage of most of his customers, was really of

One of Best Portraits of George Washington, Two Scenes of His Life and His Final Resting Place.

The historic places in which George Washington passed part of his life and the tomb which is his final resting place have been preserved with great care through the years. As the anniversary of the great man's birth comes each year those who revere his memory and journey to the scenes of his life find them just as they were a hundred years ago. The old home where the first part of Washington's career was spent is probably of greatest interest. The home at Mount Vernon, from which he conducted his biggest public work, likewise is a famous landmark. The above group shows (1) the old homestead, (2) a portrait of Washington, (3) the tomb and (4) Mount Vernon.

the meanest, most intolerable type and, not unlike the late Boss Tweed of New York, he practically defied those whom he had defrauded to do their worst. In substance, a la Tweed, it was another "what are you going to do about it?" And in proportion as his ill-gotten fortune swelled to imposing proportions the downright snobbishness of himself and family seemed to increase, alienating wholly what measure of sympathy might have been expressed for him in his sad plight. While it may seem hard to "kick a man while he is down" there is a general verdict that his punishment is just.

Blind Man on the Job.

They do things very queerly in Boston sometimes. The latest exhibition of alleged hub aberration was brought out yesterday at a hearing before the Social Welfare Committee of the Legislature when an East Boston (Noddle Island) inhabitant charged the State Commission for the Blind with having escorted a blind man to a lumber yard where he was set at work piling lumber. His work was more satisfactory, however, than that of some men who can see all right—especially when the boss looms up in the distance. With nothing to distract his attention, and his delicate sense of touch, we are not sure that the commission made a mistake in sending a blind man to pile lumber.

FORTY YEARS.

Conductor Goodwin Long in Railroad Service.

Forty years ago tomorrow, Conductor Jeremiah J. Goodwin of this city, ran his first train as conductor on the Portsmouth Great Falls & Conway railroad. Conductor Goodwin is still handling the ticket punch on the Boston & Maine between Portsmouth and Dover. No man in railroad circles in this section is better known than Jeremiah J. Goodwin of this city, and his appointment was a great satisfaction to a host of friends on Feb. 21, 1873. He has lost none of that friendship during this long period of railroad life and his record is one that any man should be proud of.

Quite a number from this city will attend the 67th meeting of the Piscataqua Congregational Club at the Congregational church in Durham on Sat. Feb. 22.

TOBIAS LEAR WAS NOT A NATIVE OF VIRGINIA

To the Editor of the Herald:

In recognition of the fact that there's much in so-called history that is clearly misleading I take pleasure in sending to you the enclosed editorial credited to the Washington Herald by the Boston Journal. On the eve of another Washington birthday celebration your readers may consider this a timely, and exceptionally interesting, contribution. Before reaching the reproduced editorial in question I would say that New Castle legend tells us Tobias Lear was known as "the brains of Washington." Personally, I feel convinced he was born at New Castle instead of Portsmouth, as birth records at that time were poorly kept. And, perhaps, in mentioning his birthplace to a biographer at Washington or New York one would be likely to say Portsmouth because of the more definite geographical impression that would convey, just as Cambridge, Waltham, Newton, Watertown and Quincy people might tell a "Frisco" citizen they were from Boston.

I find the New International Encyclopedia gives Tobias Lear (1762-1816), an American diplomatist born at Portsmouth, graduated from Harvard in 1783, and two years later appointed to the position of secretary by President Washington, which position he held until the time of the death of "the Father of his Country." Lear was prominent in the consular service and concluded a treaty between America and Tripoli in 1805. The Americana Encyclopedia gives substantially the same information, excepting that it places the date of his birth "about 1760."

Souvenir postcards now on sale in Portsmouth show us "the birthplace of Tobias Lear." One of George Washington's letters tells of his calling on the mother of Mr. Lear in Portsmouth. I believe the house stands on Hunking street. Brewster's Rambles (first series) contains much information in extreme about Col. Tobias Lear.

Thought you might like to use this, showing that "our Tobias Lear" was no Virginian, yet quite good enough to be known as "the brains" of the greatest of all Virginians.

Yours truly,

FRANK H. MELOON.

Boston, Feb. 12, 1913.

P. S.—I consider it quite probable that the Herald writer inadvertently mixed the Virginia and New Hampshire Portsmouths.—M.

PRESIDENTS TAKE PRIVATE "SECRETARY FROM OWN STATE"

It has been an almost unbroken rule for a President to select as his private secretary a citizen of his own State ever since George Washington took with him Tobias Lear when he went to New York to become the first President of the republic. Mr. Lear was a Virginian, a close friend and neighbor of Gen. Washington. Thus Jefferson chose for that position Capt. Merriweather Lewis of Virginia; Jackson, A. J. Donelson of Tennessee; Van Buren, John Van Buren of New York; Polk, John Knox Walker of Tennessee; Taylor, Col. Bliss of Kentucky; Fillmore, M. P. Fillmore of New York; Pierce, Sidney Webster of New Hampshire; Buchanan, James Buchanan of Pennsylvania; Lincoln, John N. Nicolay of Illinois; Johnson, Robert Johnson of Tennessee; Grant, Robert M. Douglas of Illinois, and later, Levi P. Luckey; Hayes, W. K. Rogers of Ohio; Garfield, J. Stanley Brown of Ohio; Arthur, Fred J. Stanley of New York; Cleveland, in his first administration, Dan Lamont of New York, and Henry T. Thurber of Michigan in his second administration; Harrison, E. J. Halford of Indiana; McKinley, J. Addison Porter of Ohio; and Roosevelt, William Loeb, Jr., of New York.

Several of these private secretaries filled places of high distinction, some in public and some in private life. Tobias Lear represented the government in diplomatic positions, concluding the treaty between the United States and the Barbary powers, and died while holding an important position in the State Department at Washington. Lewis led the great exploring expedition to Oregon and was murdered while governor of Missouri territory, in a lonely cabin in eastern Kentucky, while he was on his way to Washington. Lamont became a member of Cleveland's cabinet during his first term. Halford became a paymaster in the navy, and Loeb is now collector of the port of New York.

It has always been looked upon as the natural and proper thing to do for an incoming President to take his private secretary and at least one member of his cabinet from his own State. To do this has never been regarded as invidious toward the other States, but is credited to the natural desire of one chosen to that high position to have in confidential positions near him one or two men from his own State, of whose loyalty he can feel always assured.—Washington Herald.

(P. S.—The Portsmouth Herald, while on this interesting subject, will further correct its Washington namesake. McKinley's secretary was from Connecticut, not Ohio. Dan Lamont was in Cleveland's second cabinet, not the first. Elijah Halford was appointed paymaster in the Army, not the Navy.—Ed. Herald.)

AT ST. JOHN'S.

Growing Interest in the Mission Now Being Held at That Church.

The question of suffering was taken up at the Mission service last night at St. John's church. Father Officer took the fifty-third chapter of Isaiah as the text of his sermon. He showed that the chapter, which so wonderfully prophesies the passion of Christ, is to be understood first as the record of an experience. Here was a sufferer, whom Isaiah calls "The Servant of the Lord," who so endured before men the grief that was laid upon him, that men were obliged to pass some verdict upon the meaning of his suffering. Isaiah gives us the various impressions by which men sought to explain the problem. First they simply hated the pain; that they sought in him, hated it, and wanted to put it out of their sight. Then they declared that his suffering was the result of his own sin—that he "was stricken of God and afflicted." And then, gradually, as they watched him, the conviction forced itself upon them that his suffering was vicarious—that he was enduring it all for them. "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities." Finally, the experience came to them that the pain and suffering were not actually redemptive. There was a real and wonderful work wrought in them by means of it.

All this, the preacher said, comes to us out of the heart of the Old Testament, not as a prophecy primarily but as the record of an experience. Afterwards, of course, it finds a complete fulfillment in our Lord Christ, who suffered and died, not for one race and time but for all races and all times.

Thus the Atonement, witnessed to by all the Christian ages, is commended to our hearts beforehand.

In the instruction following the sermon, Father Officer spoke of the first parts of the work of repentance, namely, self-examination and contrition. He gave a simple method by which one might make a real and thorough examination of conscience. Tonight there will be further instruction in other points of repentance. A mission service will be held Saturday and Sunday nights at 7.30 o'clock. The people of Portsmouth are cordially invited to make use of these services.

OBSEQUIES

Mrs. Chiara Merento.

The funeral services of Mrs. Chiara Merento were held at the church of the Immaculate Conception on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, when a large number of the Italian residents attended. High mass of requiem was offered by Rev. Edward J. Walsh, D.D., with Gregorian music by the senior choir. Many beautiful floral offerings were sent by sorrowing friends of the deceased. The interment was in Calvary cemetery under the direction of Funeral Director W. P. Miskell.

OBITUARY

Charles Frank Lowd

Charles Frank Lowd, one of the old residents of this city died on Thursday evening at his home on Blossum street, at the age of 74 years. He sustained a shock on Tuesday evening last from which he never rallied.

He was a native of Portsmouth and as a young man learned the painting trade, working for some time in the old Carriage factory on Hanover street. He was a quiet unassuming man who had a good word for every body. He leaves three sons, Albert B. of Melrose, Mass., Charles and Fred of this city.

Henry E. Young.

Henry E. Young, for years an engineer and pilot on Great Bay and Portsmouth harbor, died at his home, 7 North Pine street, Dover, Thursday morning.

Mr. Young followed his duties on the river and harbor boats in and about Portsmouth and up the river to Dover until forced to leave by ill health a few years ago. He was well known in this city and by all whose craft came in the port. He had lived in Dover for 45 years. He is survived by a widow, one daughter, Miss Cora H. Young, one brother, Edwin A. of Imbelle, Tenn., and one sister, Miss Annie M. of Dover. The funeral will be held from his late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

HOLLIS WITHIN FIVE VOTES OF A WIN

Legislature Make a Short Day of Thursday With the Senatorial Contest Taking the Time.

Total number of ballots 357
Choice 179
O'Neil 1
Hass 1
Morse 1

Hartlett 1
Woodbury 1
Belonger 1
Chalmers 1
Britton 1
Pearson 143
Hollis 171

Conceded, Feb. 26.—With a total of 357 votes, and requiring 179 for a choice, Hollis, with a lack of five votes, came as near election this morning as at any time since the contest for United States senator began. A new name was brought into the list, that of Charles A. O'Neil of Walpole, who received one vote.

Representative Charles A. Perkins of Manchester presided at the opening of the morning session. In the absence of Speaker Britton, who was with a party of the delegates to the conference of Charities and Correction on a tour of inspection to the state prison and asylum, Speaker Britton returned in season to preside at the joint convention for the purpose of balloting for senator.

The time at the morning session was occupied for the most part by the reading of bills and resolutions. The bill relating to the salary of public officials of the city of Manchester was referred to the Manchester delegation. The bill provides that the salary of all city officials shall be fixed by the board electing them. This bill is made to permit the school board to fix the salary of its clerk that branch being the only one in the city which has not already that power.

The committee on forestry reported that the bill, which provides for the protection of shade trees along the highways, ought to pass. This committee also reported favorably on the resolution appropriating $3000 for paying the balance of the state's share to cities and towns for the expense of fighting forest fires. This comes on a deficit that occurred in 1911 and 1912.

The committee on revision of statutes reported house bill No. 41, which relates to the election of county officials, as inexpedient to legislate. A minority report was made, and it was voted to make the bill a special order for Tuesday at 12:01 o'clock.

The bill permitting baseball playing on Sunday was reported from the committee on revision of the statutes as inexpedient to legislate. A minority report was offered and the bill made a special order for Wednesday morning at 12:01 o'clock.

Attorney L. Ashton Thorp of Manchester appeared before the senate judiciary committee this morning for the N. E. O. P. Incorporation bill. He was the only one to appear before the committee, no one opposing the bill, which has been reported favorably.

The senate today by a vote of 15 to 9 killed the Chalmers preferential primary bill, which was aimed to permit the people of the state to express a preference for United States senator. The following voted to indefinitely postpone the bill, Senators Hutchins, Gates, Wallace, Deal, Gerry, Sawyer, Emerson, Greenwood, Rogers, Holmes, Tolford, Joyal, Farnsworth, Parsons and Kennedy.

K. OF C. CHARGES LIBEL

A Member Causes the Arrest in Philadelphia of Two Men Said to Have Issued a False Document Purporting to Be the Society's Oath.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—A member of the Knights of Columbus caused the arrest on warrants here yesterday of two men who it is alleged printed and circulated during the last presidential campaign a report that members of the order were compelled to subscribe to an oath hostile to American institutions. The defendants, Charles Megonigal and Clarence H. Stage, are charged with criminal libel and were held in jail by a magistrate for a hearing today. It is charged that the defendants issued the alleged libel in circulars from a printing establishment in West Philadelphia. During the last campaign the oath the Knights of Columbus were said to take in joining the order was circulated throughout the country. The national officers of the organization denied that any such obligation was taken by the members and denounced the report as a "malicious and wicked lie." Charles H. Dwyer of Philadelphia made the affidavit on which the warrants were issued.

"There's a Reason"

"Less Butter— More Cottolene in Your Kitchen"

THE cost of living has increased so that today one's income goes only about half as far as it did 15 years ago. Under such circumstances it is surely up to every housewife to count the cost of food pretty carefully.

Butter is one of the big items on every monthly expense account. We use too much butter, and butter is sky high most of the time.

Let us tell you the solution to the problem. Butter is a necessary on the table; it is an extravagance in the kitchen.

Cottolene will give you just as good or better results than butter in cooking, at half the cost. It makes deliciously dry, crisp food, without the suggestion of grease.

Food cooked with Cottolene digests more easily than either butter- or lard-cooked food.

Add to these the fact that Cottolene will go one-third farther than butter or lard, and you are without a possible excuse for at least giving Cottolene a trial.

We assure you it will make good and save you money.

STEAMED CHOCOLATE PUDDING.
Place 3 tablespoons of Cottolene in a bowl with 1/2 of a cup of sugar and 1 egg and beat all together thoroughly. Add 1 cup of milk and pour the mixture gradually into 2 cups of flour which have been sifted twice with a teaspoon each of salt and cinnamon and 2 1/2 teaspoons of baking powder. Blend well and then stir in 2 small squares of chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Pour into greased mold and steam for one hour and a half. Serve with sauce or sweetened whipped cream.

HIGH GRADE—STRICTLY

Progress. This is a word in "The Story of the Cadillac." Since the inception of the industry the Cadillac has become increasingly the criterion of excellence in practical construction. Each year the Cadillac looks to the Cadillac for that which represents the real progress in the development of the motor car. Not for the sake of features whose value ends in their utility as "balking points" but features which are here today and gone tomorrow, but features which are practical and features which mark real and substantial advancement.

I have a few used Cadillac cars, guaranteed. It pays to buy them—they are high grade.

NO MAIL BY FREIGHT

Washington, Feb. 20.—The "Blue Tag" system of sending some periodicals by freight and others by fast mail trains at the discretion of the Postmaster General, gives him a power over the press that is "unthinkable," except in an absolute monarchy, and jeopardizes the freedom of the press according to the report of the Senate Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads. The committee has recommended an amendment to the Post Office appropriation bill abolishing the system after the first of next September. The report says that the Postmaster General never had any warrant in law for putting the system into effect.

Another startling recommendation of the committee is an amendment for the direct nomination by the people of fourth-class postmasters. This plan adopted would take from the senators and the President their biggest patronage and would be absolutely fatal to the building of a "Federal political machine." Concerning the power over periodicals which can be exercised by the Postmaster General under the Blue Tag system, the committee says:

The existence of such a power in any but an absolute monarchy is unthinkable. There can be no freedom of the press if publishers are subject to the unfettered discretion of an executive officer. This view we entertain without in any way impugning the motives of the department. We cannot, however, consent to a violation of the fundamental principles of American institutions for the purpose of saving even a considerable sum in postal expenditures. We therefore recommend that the Blue Tag service be abolished and that all periodicals be admitted to the mails upon an equality under the law.

Ever since the Blue Tag system was instituted by an executive order of the Post Office Department in 1911, there has been a howl of protest from the publishers of magazines and it has been alleged by some publishers who were not friendly to President Taft during the campaign that Postmaster General Hitchcock "got even" with them by relegating their publications to the freight trains while allowing their competitors the use of the fast mail trains.

WORE PAJAMAS AND LIFE BELT

A case of nerves induced by rattling seas and a wallowing ship was reported when the Winfredman arrived in Boston from Liverpool yesterday after a sojourn with a vengeful sea. The thirty cabin passengers had found the rough weather a bit monotonous up to the night the liner was plunging across the submerged mountains of Newfoundland, where the bottom of the ocean rises to within a few hundred fathoms of the surface.

Most everyone had become accustomed to the rolling and pitching and lulling parties were having, inlaid, much as usual. Deck chairs however, were forgotten. To have pecked a nose into the frosty wind would have quickly spoiled that feature for polite society in saloon or lounge. As night approached the wind increased and the sea assumed large proportions with spray making ice below and aloft. Passengers sought staterooms, and at an early hour, the ship was in semi-darkness save for the glare of running lights and a few illuminated alleys.

The Winfredman was lunging along at eight bells with "all's well" from the lookout, and making splendid weather. A man swayed in a life preserver dived out of his room as if bereft of reason and made a bee line toward the nearest boat. Byes were building, knees knelt, as the apparition threw itself across the shadows and disappeared from the view of the amazed watch officers. Meantime the Winfredman was careering along her course, with navigating officers congratulating themselves that the night was clear and everything going as well as could be expected.

The man with the life preserver and little else in the way of attire was dithering about the upper deck when the officers, so the story goes interpreted him. Somnambulism nerves or plain fright—they couldn't tell which. Anxious the man was induced to return to his room before he had wrought fellow passengers into a panic.

Among those returning on the liner was J. W. Fogarty and his son, a lad of about 15.

Orrine for Drink Habit

Try It At Our Expense

We are in earnest when we ask you to give ORRINE a trial. You have nothing to risk and everything to gain, for your money will be returned if after a trial you fail to get results from ORRINE. This offer gives the wives and mothers of those who drink to excess an opportunity to try the ORRINE treatment. It is a very simple treatment, can be given in the home without publicity or loss of time from business, and at a small price.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms: No. 1, secret treatment, a powder; ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. Costs only $1.00 a box. Come in and talk over the matter with us. Ask for booklet, Boardman & Norton, corner State and Pleasant streets.

STILL FIGHTING TURKS LOSING

London, Feb. 22.—A terrific three days' battle between the Bulgarians and Turks at Bulair, in the Peninsula of Gallipoli, has just been concluded, according to a special dispatch from Constantinople.

Each side is reported to have lost 3500 men. Enver Bey, the Turkish General, was among the wounded.

The Bulgarians had 100,000 men under fire, while 70,000 Turks were engaged, including the former hope of 30,000 men commanded by Enver Bey.

ROOT AND CRANE URGE HARMONY CONVENTION

Propose to Unite Republicans and Progressives for 1914 Campaign.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Senator Crane of Massachusetts gave out a statement this evening in which he favors a Republican National convention next autumn. A like statement was made by Senator Elihu Root of New York. The purpose of such a convention is to bring the Republican and Progressive factions together and lay the ground work for a harmonious campaign when the congressional elections of 1914 and the presidential campaign of 1916 come around.

The topic has been much discussed recently in the senate in a preliminary way. The senate cloakrooms are a clearing house for many suggestions and comments about politics. Since the defeat of last November this has been more true than ever before in a long time.

The statements of Senators Crane and Root are calculated to give the harmony discussion impetus. Such a national convention would presumably confine its deliberations largely to matters of organization and procedure such as southern representations and methods of electing delegates.

Senator Crane in his statement said: "I am in favor of holding a Republican National Convention for the purpose of changing the basis of representation in proportion to the Republican vote, and also to amend the ruling for the election of delegates, in such manner as may be deemed wise.

"History has shown that a change in the basis of representation is not likely to be made at a nomination convention and this emphasizes the necessity of a special convention.

Expressions by members by various factions of the party indicate that efforts will be made to bring Republicans from all states together.

"I am in favor of holding a Republican convention at some convenient time next fall or winter," said Senator Root, for the purpose of doing two things:

"First, to make representations in national conventions proportional to the Republican vote, that is correcting the disproportion in what is spoken of as the southern representation.

"Second, to permit the Republicans of each state to elect delegates to national conventions in their own way, so that the choice in each state will be regulated according to the laws of the state.

"In order that these changes shall be effective in a convention to nominate a President they must be made before that convention, and that can be done only by a special convention. The national committee is still bound by the old rules which were adopted by the convention of 1888. They will have to call the next convention, just as they did the last one, under these rules, unless a special convention is called to make the changes, which certainly ought to be made."

'Oh Girls! Do Try GETS-IT For Corns'

The New-Plan Corn Cure. No Fuss No Pain, Sure and Quick. Like "GETS-IT" for corns, before! You're sure at last that every stubborn corn that you've tried so long to get rid of is a "goner". You apply "GETS-IT" in 2 seconds, that's all. "GETS-IT" does the rest. There's no more fussing, no more bandages to fit, no more salves to turn the flesh red and raw. No more plasters to get misplaced and press on the corn. No more "pulling," no more pain, no more picking and gouging, no more razors.

"GETS-IT" stops pain, shrivels up the corn, and the corn vanishes. "GETS-IT" never fails, is harmless to healthy flesh. Warts, calluses and bunions disappear.

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25c a bottle or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Portsmouth by Thilton Drug Co., E. B. Philbrick, Boardman & Norton, P. B. Coleman.

"ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE"

IN BRIEF

Chicago, Feb. 20.—President Charles Comiskey and Manager James Callahan of the Chicago American league club, with about thirty players, will leave tonight on a special train for the spring training quarters at Pazo Reles, Cal.

Panama, Feb. 20.—Several members of the United States house of representatives committee on naval and military affairs yesterday visited some of the interesting sections of the Panama canal as well as the presidency, the assembly and other places. They proceeded to Balboa today, and will return to the United States on Saturday.

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 20.—Fully fifty persons taken by the military in connection with disorders in the Pains Creek coal country were released during last night and today, leaving about 70 in the temporary prison at Pains Creek Junction. All the mines where operations were resumed were under heavy guard.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Pres. Hon. Johnson of the American league has received from Albert Lehr of Washington, D. C., a plan which he considers feasible for enabling umpires more accurately to judge balls and strikes.

Kobe, Feb. 20.—A revised list of the cabinet of Count Gombel Yama-moto, does not contain the name of Viscount Chinda, ambassador of Japan to the United States, who previously had been mentioned for the post of minister of foreign affairs. For that portfolio Baron Nobukuni Makino has been chosen.

Portland, Me., Feb. 20.—On the charge of smuggling two Chinamen to this country, in violation of the Chinese exclusion act, Albert C. Butler, who was arrested with two Chinamen, taken from a train from Montreal, waived examination when arraigned today. He was held in $2000 bonds for appearance before the federal court in Vermont next Tuesday. The two Chinamen were sent to Boston to be reported.

W. S. Skelton, a merchant at Stanley, Ind., says he would not take $100, for the relief a single box of Foley Kidney Pills gave him. "I had a severe attack of kidney trouble with sharp pains through my back, and could hardly straighten up. A single box of Foley Kidney Pills entirely relieved me," Dyer & Chipman.

London, Feb. 20.—The Exchange Telegraph Company publishes a dispatch from Rome stating that Prof. Giuseppe Bastianelli, the best known medical specialist in Italy, was today summoned to Cairo, Egypt, by J. Pierpont Morgan.

The agency states that the professor will leave this evening and is to remain with Mr. Morgan until he sails on March 10.

Another Exchange Telegram company dispatch from Rome says J. P. Morgan telegraphed this morning to a friend there stating that his condition had greatly improved, but that he had relinquished the services of Prof. Bastianelli as a matter of precaution.

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership lately subsisting between Thomas E. Mitchell and John R. Flanagan, both of Portsmouth, N. H., under the name of Mitchell & Co., was dissolved on the nineteenth day of February, 1913, by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said co-partnership are to be received by the said Thomas E. Mitchell and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment.

THOMAS E. MITCHELL,
JOHN R. FLANAGAN.

Paris, Feb. 20.—France is in the grip of an exceptionally cold snap, which coming on top of the recent warm spell, has caused widespread agricultural disaster. Only so short a time ago as Feb. 6 the warm weather brought the bloom to plants in the suburbs of Paris, while buds were bursting on the fruit trees in the orchards of Normandy and Brittany. The south of France is now suffering from heavy rains, and snow storms. The steamer Cleron has been wrecked off Oleron, eight persons being drowned.

STATE BUDGET PASSED WITHOUT DEBATE

Concord, Feb. 20.—The house yesterday afternoon passed the budget carrying the appropriations for the years 1913 and 1914 and which, carrying an amount totaling approximately by two and three-quarter millions, was for the first time since the budget was made up in the present form, read a third time by its title and passed without comment or objection, other than the inquiry by one or two of the members as to whether it exceeded or was less than that of two years ago, or if it carried any salary increases.

The amount appropriated for the year 1913 is $1,298,554.47, and that for 1914 $1,467,781.47, making a total for the two years of $2,766,335.94.

The action of putting the bill on its final reading and passage by its title only is unprecedented, and was the cause of some comment in the corridors, although the argument was advanced that all of the members had had ample previous opportunity to acquaint themselves with the amounts carried and the totals, and that it was done for the purpose of saving time.

COURT ORDERS MYLIUS LET IN

New York, Feb. 19.—Edward F. Mylius, the London editor, who published a libel against King George, and who was barred by the immigration authorities at Ellis Island, was given permission to enter the country today by Judge Cox in the federal district court.

The court held that the question of moral turpitude involved in the offense charged against Mylius was difficult to prove, and that in the court's opinion Mylius, at the most had been guilty of a political offense.

Mylius this afternoon left Ellis Island where he had been detained more than eight weeks declaring that he was ready for a new start in life.

"The action of the court in freeing me is a slap at the aristocracy of England and all forms of monarchy," he said. "No one can regard the action as a means of upholding the aristocracy. For me it amounts to a vindication."
